PORTUGAL AND HER COLONIES

The following collection of Portugal and her Colonies represents the finest selection of these series we have ever seen offered in the United States. The gentleman who put together this collection spent many years searching for the rare types and for attractive specimens in general. There are several coins in this grouping which are true rarities.

667. PORTUGAL: Joao I: Real de 10 Soldos ND (1385-1433) VAZ-27 AVF 10.00
668. -Real de 10 Soldos ND (1385-1433) VAZ-134 Fine, oxid. spots. 7.50
669. Alfonso V: Real Branco ND (1438-81) VAZ-80. Fine with the inner detail clear. RARE TYPE 70.00
670. Manuel I: Vintem ND (1495-1521) VAZ-25 Fine 12.50
671. Joao III: Vintem ND (1521-57) VAZ-? Like #160, but "PORTUGA" on rev. (Rev= #91, Obv= #160) VF, tiny pierce. Possibly Rare 17.50
672. Sebastian I: V Reis Copper ND (1557-78) VAZ-82 VG, most detail is clear. Scarce 10.00
673. -Real ND VAZ-95 Fine+, very crude coinage 10.00

* * * * *

*674. Alfonso VI: 3 Reis Copper 1659. VAZ does not list this type & specifically states, "It seems that no copper coins were struck in Alfonso's name. Excepting for this specimen of a real e meio (1 1/2), reproduced below and which has the aspect of a counterfeit, nothing else is known. Probably Joao IV's copper coinage was still then circulating and a specimen is known of the real e meio with a mark (incuse 10) similar to those applied by the law of 22 III 1663 to silver. This leads to the conclusion that copper had attained a high price." Our specimen is a boldly struck VERY FINE with the date and Alfonso's name very clear. Additionally, this piece appears to be genuine as it is of credible workmanship, unlike VAZ' line drawing of the suspected real e meio. Possibly UNIQUE, this attractive specimen represents the only known 3 Reis copper coin of the reign of Alfonso VI $1,000.00

*742. -40 Reis 1833 V-56, C-103. Choice About UNC. The planchet on which this coin was struck shows evidence of careful concentric milling- special attention given the flan before the coin was struck. Given the historical background of this period (Maria, regent, did not arrive in Lisbon until 1834 after the banishment of Michael I,) the unusually high condition of this huge copper coin, and the concentric milling, we believe this piece to be a trial strike or pattern issue. It is RARE if only as the regular type coin, particularly in choice condition..... 250.00

We hope that you have enjoyed perusing our first exclusive offering of European coins and that you have found something of interest. Since we travel to Europe frequently, (our next trip Oct 1-22 will be our fourth this year) we are in constant need of better European material. If you are contemplating selling your collection or choice individual pieces, please contact us. We can pay more because we have direct contact with our European clientele.
